

Charterhouse Auction Set to be a Commercial Success

A trio of classic commercial vehicle feature in the Charterhouse auction of classic cars at The Royal Bath & West Showground, Shepton Mallet on Sunday 12th February.

“Classic commercial vehicles are quite a rare sight on our roads today. During their working life, they were useful workhorses and often skips on wheels!” Commented Matthew Whitney. “As with most vehicles, they were often subjected to periods of neglect, lack of maintenance or had owners who aspired to be racing drivers.”

The trio of light commercial vehicles all have green credentials, being painted in various shades of green. The group comprises a Mini-van, an Austin A35 van and a Morris Minor van. All three have current MOT's and the added benefits of being tax exempt. Now ready to be used by their new owners, they would be a useful addition to any classic car collection or could be sign written with business details for advertising, marketing and having fun.

The above vans are valued with the following estimated prices:-

A 1972 Austin Mini 850 Van - £2,500-3,000

A 1969 Morris Minor 6cwt Van - £4,500-5,000

A1968 Austin A35 5cwt Van - £4,500-5,000
