Diamonds and Wine Sparkle at Charterhouse Auction

The huge Charterhouse two day auction of over 1,200 lots on Thursday 23rd & Friday 24th February includes a fine selection of valuable jewellery and superb wine.

"We have had a fantastic start to the year having received the best every entry of fine wine into the auction. David Baines, who is our wine expert with over 40 years of specialist wine knowledge, has travelled far and wide to amass 200 lots of wine, port and spirits making this probably the finest such auction in the West Country." Commented Richard Bromell. "We always combine our wine auctions with silver and jewellery as there is a good crossover of clients looking to buy and with 500 such lots there is plenty of choice with estimate from £50 up to £6000."

In the wine going under the hammer, there are cases of Chateau Lafite (£8,000-10,000), two cases of the outstanding Chateau Petrus (£9,000-11,000 per case) along with cases of port such as Warre's 1983 (£300-400) through to spirits including a limited edition bottle of Courvoisier cognac (£1,500-2,000).

A case of Chateau Petrus £9,000-11,000

A case of Warre's port £300-400

Top lot in the jewellery section is a fine diamond bracelet (£5,000-6,000) followed by a good selection of large diamond, sapphire and ruby rings, earring, necklaces and bracelets.
