

Fine Wine at Charterhouse Auction

The Charterhouse February two day auction includes a specialist section of wine, port and spirits with estimates from just £40 up to £10,000.

“We are unusual as provincial auctioneers in that we have been conducting specialist sales of wine, port and spirits for many years. During this time, we have sold wines from major Chateaux and vineyards across the globe and even from Russia!” Commented David Baines. “However, it was a call from a longstanding client near Bath which has turned up a case of fine 1996 Chateau Lafite, still in its original wooden box, which will be the star lot of the wine sale and is estimated at £8,000-10,000.”

Fine wine at Charterhouse – a case of fine 1996 Chateau Lafite estimated at £8,000-£10,000

Whilst some investments have been struggling over the past few years, wine and port has proven to be a great investment for a large number of buyers. Charterhouse are often asked to value cases of port which were given as christening presents through single bottles of wine which can still sell for hundreds of pounds and sometimes thousands of pounds.

Charterhouse is now accepting further entries for this two day auction on 23rd and 24thFebruary. For advice on wine, port and spirits, please contact the Charterhouse wine expert David Baines at Charterhouse, The Long Street Salerooms, Sherborne 01935 812277, alternatively you can drop into the salerooms on Tuesday 7th February when David will be on hand for advice and free valuations.

The two day auction also includes gold, jewellery, silver, watches & antiques and Charterhouse is also accepting further entries and for these specialist sections please contact Richard Bromell at their salerooms.