

Amazing Automobilia at Auction

Charterhouse have been instructed to auction a collection of automobilia and enamel signs in their specialist sale of automobilia on 3rd April.

“The market for automobilia and enamel signs is particularly strong at present which is why the owner invited me to Devon to advise on them and then decided to auction his collection” commented Richard Bromell. “The collection has been in his Devon barn for years, but it is time to let new owners enjoy them.”

The owner, who lives in rural Devon, amassed the collection over the past 30 years. There are vintage car superchargers to enamel signs. The signs are in all shapes and sizes from the 1920's onwards estimated to sell from £50 to £1,000.
